WUSD may use debt to pay for elementary school

■ State money may come late -- if at all -- to help pay for new campus amid subdivisions of Southport

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

West Sacramento's school district won't hold its breath waiting for state money to help build a new elementary school in the growing Southport area.

"Obviously, we need to go forward with the school," said Patrick Campbell, interim superintendent of the Washington Unified School District. "It's a disappointment, though, if we don't get the state help. We're all California taxpayers, and to not receive the money is bothersome."

Washington Unified currently plans a new school in the Bridgeway Island subdivision, and has "put in a request to the state and is standing in line" for money, said Campbell.

But current state money for new school construction is already spent, he added, and "we will have to wait for the next bond election in the spring of next year, or maybe November of next year."

In the meantime, the district hopes to have a next school open in September, 2002.

How do you pick up the roughly five-million dollar price tag for a new school?

"You do that through developers' fees and through C.O.P.s," said Campbell, referring to "certificates of participation" that are sold to investors and then repaid with interest. "We'd try to pay it off within 20 years."

As for the district's financial health as a whole, Campbell added that next year's budget "should be O.K."

"Given a very conservative budget, it would be a deficit," he explained. "We oftentimes go into a year not knowing what the funding (from the state) will be. If Governor Davis maintains the COLA (cost of living adjustment), which we have some concerns about because of the energy crisis, and we get some growth, we'll be O.K."

Campbell said that the previous superintendent's administration overestimated the number of new students the district would see in the current year. When some of those students didn't materialize, neither did funding for them from the state.

Adding to the squeeze is a "slightly over-staffed" situation among the faculty, which increases payroll costs.

"If we are able through attrition – not layoffs – to reduce staffing in appropriate places, we'll do well," said Campbell.

After construction of a new school at Bridgeway, a second new elementary school at a yet-to-be determined location is already being considered. The district's first new school in many years – Southport Elementary School on Linden Road – opened its doors in 1999.

Teen arrested for 1997 death

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

An arrest has been made in the 1997 death of West Sacramento 12-year old Heidi Ubrick -- previously classified an "accident."

Local police announced this week that a teenager extradited to Yolo County after making incriminating comments about the incident has been arrested for homicide in connection with the case.

The boy, now 17, was one of two boys with Ubrick on the roof of an abandoned South River Road rice silo when Ubrick crashed through a roof and fell to her death. The girl was reported missing, and was sought for nearly a week before officials found her body amid a tangle of debris in their second search of the silo.

The remaining youths were interviewed, and the case was classified an "accident."

HEIDI UBRICK: died in fall at grain silo

But last month while in custody in Lassen County on an unrelated charge, the 17-year old made remarks "that warranted further investigation" of the Ubrick case, say police. A West Sacramento police sergeant interviewed him further, and he was brought to Yolo County.

The investigation continues.

The boy's name has not been released due to his age.

City seeks new port rep:

Ray Jones vacates port post

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Ray Jones will step down this week as West Sacramento's sole representative to the commission that governs the Port of Sacramento.

"It was a pleasure to serve the people of West Sacramento, and I thank them for the opportunity," said Jones yesterday.

Jones – a past mayor, city council member, school board member, and participant in many other levels of local government – cited "personal reasons" in his resignation. He told the city council last month that he would be stepping away from the port commission.

His term on the commission expires in December, 2003, and the council is now soliciting applications for a replacement.

Jones told the News-Ledger that health considerations and other needs played a role in his decision.

"I've always been very active when I've served in the past on different bodies," he said. "Lately, I haven't been able to do that. Maybe the person who replaces me could."

He said that prospects at the Port of Sacramento are picking up.

"I think that the Port is starting to develop economically to a degree it hasn't in many years," he commented. "Shipping is enhanced a great deal. There are a lot more prospective opportunities. The maritime outlook is improving."

As he steps down, though, he remains concerned about some port issues – including finding a way to improve public access for fishing and other recreational activities at the port.

"(Mayor Mark Montemayor) and I have worked for four years trying to find a way to increase public access at the port," said Jones. "We've been looking at the area between the two bridges, near the new Palamidessi Bridge."

And he hopes that new development in the port's southern real estate will take the shape of a "business park" rather than a farm of large warehouses. He cited a commitment dating back to a ballot initiative ten years ago, when Jones served on the city council.

"I want a business park," Jones stated. "I don't want large, great big boxes on Lake Washington Blvd. We promised people in Measure B that it wouldn't be warehouses, and we ought to honor that."

Most appointments on the port's seven-person governing commission come from the city and county of Sacramento, with Yolo County and West Sacramento contributing one representative each. Any residents interested in applying for the West Sacramento seat may contact city hall, 373-5800.

The other end of your faucet: drinking water plant invites you to tour Bryte Bend facility

West Sacramento's Bryte Bend Water Treatment Plant invites residents behind the scenes of their drinking water facility as part of National Drinking Water Week now underway.

"When you stop to think about it, the need for a safe supply of drinking water really can't be overestimated," said Jerry Lo, city public works director, in a recent press release. "Clean water is essential to our lives and lifestyles, every single day."

Anyone desiring a plant tour may call Dan Mount, Water Services Superintendent, at 371-6818.

This week in local government

The West Sacramento City Council will meet tonight (May 9) at 7 p.m. in open session at 1350 Halyard Dr.

Agenda items include acceptance of public improvements in Newport Estates and Bridgeway Island subdivisions; agreement involving Community Facilities District No. 14 in Newport Estates; recognition of Police Week; transference of 1128 West Capitol Ave. to the city for civic center project; amendment of contract between City and CALPERS; authorized position list; salary and benefits for Parking/Traffic Enforcement Supervisor; and consideration of an official city position on AB 680, Assemblyman Steinberg's sales tax redistribution bill.

The West Sacramento Economic Development Advisory Commission (EDAC) will meet next at 6 p.m. on May 30 at 1350 Halyard Dr.; an earlier meeting has been canceled.

School board members of Washington Unified School District were scheduled to hold a special meeting yesterday to confer with their consultant on "desired qualifications" of a new superintendent, and to discuss appointment of community member volunteers.

The board will meet tomorrow (May 10) at 7 p.m. in public session at 930 Westacre Rd. as well.

Agenda items will include Indian Education Continuation Application; school age grant award; math adoption; USDA summer feeding agreement with City; purchase order reports; a presentation by County Schools Superintendent Dr. Jorge Ayala; IIUSP action plans for Alyce Norman, Bryte Elementary and River City High School; bond sale update; bid award for installation of 34 interim state portables at nine sites; participation in state lower-emission school bus replacement program; superintendent interview panel approval; additional support for high impact elementary schools; adoption of staffing standards; and various personnel actions.

The Washington Unified School District is adopting math materials for grades K-6 for the 2001-2002 school year. The materials will be on display through May 23 at the district office, 930 Westacre Rd., between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Soil removed: concerns about lead

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

The Sacramento Municipal Utilities District (SMUD) removed a shipment of soil from a West Sacramento property last week after learning that the dirt might be too high in soluble lead. The utility company had brought the soil to the site at Jefferson Blvd. and Marshall Road in Southport to make way for a construction project in Sacramento.

"SMUD was doing a cleanup of a site in Sacramento," said Bruce Sarazin, a supervising hazardous materials specialist for Yolo County. "They were testing the soil for lead content. The tests showed some contamination, but less than the level of concern."

Following those results, the soil was moved to a private lot in West Sacramento to make way for construction. But then, the utility found it had had mistakenly tested for "total lead" when it should have tested for "soluble lead."

"New tests were started, but rather than wait for the results, they removed it and shipped it as hazardous waste," said Sarazin. "They took a conservative approach. West Sacramento officials and the county were both there observing it, and we also required them to do a 'grid search' of 17 or 18 samples to make sure they had removed all the soil. The engineer looked at it and said it was clean soil remaining."

Sarazin said SMUD had not set out to use the West Sacramento site as a "dumping ground" for potentially hazardous dirt. Instead, he said, SMUD's intent had been to relocate superfluous soil that the utility believed had passed the required testing.

Remembering 'Boogie,' the much-loved rabbit

Note: This past week, Boogie the rabbit, a family pet for almost 12 years, had to be put to sleep because of a cancerous tumor in his mouth which was beginning to make it almost possible for him to eat. His passing reminded me of the following column, which first appeared in the News-Ledger almost a decade ago:

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

When you have as many kids as I do, I guess it's only normal that one of them would turn out to be an animal lover. In fact, when my daughter, Carrie, first began to show an affinity for all creatures great and small, I even encouraged it. I mean, what could be more healthy than a young girl learning to appreciate and care for some of nature's cutest and cuddliest creations?

So, over the years, and with my blessing, Carrie has collected Nicky and Shadow the dogs, Hopper and Boogie the rabbits, Little and Little Patty the lovebirds, and Barney and Beverly the goldfish.

One of the toughest lessons any animal lover must learn is that most pets have a shorter life span than their owners, and Nicky, Hopper, and Little have all passed away. Barney is also currently taking medication for a fin disease which has forced him to spend most of his time spinning upside down at the top of his fish tank, and Little Patty, who is almost 7-years-old (which is ancient for a lovebird) is beginning to fall off her perch with alarming regularity.

Boogie the rabbit, however, is far and away Carrie's favorite pet, having been left on our doorstep as an Easter present by her boyfriend, Roy. He rang the doorbell a little after midnight one Easter morning and then quickly disappeared into the darkness, knowing full well that my wife (who had just recently demanded sworn oaths from everyone in the family that we wouldn't bring any more animals into the house) would have wrung his neck if she could have gotten her hands on him.

Anyway, no pet rabbit has ever received more attention and loving care than Boogie, and Carrie has mentioned rather dramatically on numerous occasions that she wouldn't know what to do if anything should ever happen to her bunny -- which brings me to my story.

The other evening, not feeling particularly in the mood to be dragged all over West Sacramento by a dog, I talked my oldest son, Ty, into taking Shadow on her nightly romp. Unknown to me, shortly after Ty had departed, Carrie had also released Boogie onto our front yard for his evening hop and positioned my youngest son, Kyle, to watch after him.

"Don't let him hop away," Carrie had instructed Kyle.

"I won't," promised Kyle.

With that, Carrie went back into the house to return a telephone call.

As Ty was returning home with Shadow, he turned the corner onto our street and like I always do, released her to gallop to our front doorstep by herself.

I only have Kyle's word for what happened next, but apparently as Shadow loped into the driveway, she spotted an uncaged Boogie, who was casually munching away on a patch of grass.

What ensued can only be described as Longcroft Street's version of one of those Marty Stouffer's Wild America scenes where a hungry predator zeros in on his prey and races off after it.

Kyle, out of breath, came running into the house and yelled, "Shadow is eating Boogie!"

Panic stricken, Carrie threw down the phone and raced outside. Upon seeing Shadow hot on the heels of her beloved bunny, she let out a series of bloodcurdling screams which quickly had every neighbor on the block looking out their windows and doors to see just what kind of child abuse was going on in my front yard.

By the time I reached the scene, Ty and Carrie had both thrown their bodies into the fray and were sprawled out on the ground after unsuccessful attempts at tackling a 90-pound hunting dog who was absolutely determined to capture her first rabbit.

To make a long story short, Boogie deftly managed to somehow stay a step ahead of Shadow until Shadow finally turned the wrong corner and ran full speed into my outstretched arms. Thankfully she soon tired of dragging me around the yard, came to a complete stop and began licking my face.

Carrie stopped screaming long enough to scoop up Boogie and Ty slowly began pulling himself out of a bush. My wife picked up Kyle, who was crying because he thought the whole thing was all his fault. A few neighbors clapped, but most of them, used to the strange things which go on around my house, simply shrugged their shoulders and went back into their homes.

My middle-son, Paul, who is much too cool to involve himself in such shenanigans, and who had been watching the action from a safe distance, slowly shook his head from side to side and turned to walk away.

"Hey, get back here, Paul," I said. "You're a part of this family, too."

"Don't remind me!"

SPORTS

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

The Kings will have to figure out a way to stop the Shaq and Kobe show if they want to advance to the NBA Western conference finals.

Shaquille O'Neal put on a display of power and dominance to win game one 108-105. The Shaq had a game high 44 points, 21 rebounds and seven blocked shots to lead the Lakers in their best of seven game Western Conference semifinal playoff series. Kobe Bryant chipped in another 29 points to lead the seven point favorite Lakers to the game one victory. The Kings played well but the 350 pound center was no match for Kings combination of Vlade Divac and Scot Pollard to handle. It's no secret but the key to the Kings second round victory over the Lakers will be how to stop the Shaq attack! Vlade Divac got the short end of the stick guarding Shaq and fouled out trying contain the big fellow. Maybe it was me but it seemed like Shaq had a hall pass on the basketball court to do what he pleased! Oh well, the Kings must win at home to advance the finals.

Chris Webber led the Kings with 34 points, but the key to the Lakers victory was the harassment by Rick Fox on Peja Stojakovic, who finished with 20 points but shot just 6-18 from the field. The Kings had an opportunity to win the game in the final seconds but Shaq blocked Jason Williams's last second shot to seal the victory for the defending NBA champions.

Coach Rich Adelman will go to the chalkboard in game two on Tuesday night (TBS/ch.31) in Los Angeles figure a way to steal a road win for Sacramento. The Kings must win in Los Angeles.

History will be set on Friday, May 11th when the Kings host game 3 of the second round of the playoffs (7:30 p.m. TNT/ch.31). The game to see will be game 4 on Mother's Day, May 12th (2:30 p.m. TBS/ch. 31). The Kings can win this series but they must win game two in L.A. on Tuesday. Go Kings!

In other NBA action the San Antonio Spurs are mugging the Dallas Mavericks and lead that series 2-0 and seem to be the team to beat in the Western Division race. The Spurs should win this match up to face the winners of the Kings vs Lakers series that will go seven games.

In the East, the inspired Toronto Raptors upset the New York Knicks to advance to the semi's against the 76ers and won game one in Philadelphia 96-93. The Raptors will give the 76ers trouble but Iverson and Motombo will rebound to win

RCHS tennis rises to challenge, beats Vanden

As they have done so many times in crucially important Golden Empire League (GEL) matches the past few years, members of the River City High School tennis team came through in the clutch in last week's showdown at Vanden. Heading into the contest, the visiting Raiders had lost just once in league competition and the host Vikings just twice. A Raider win would clinch the title while a Viking victory would create a tie at the top of the GEL West standings.

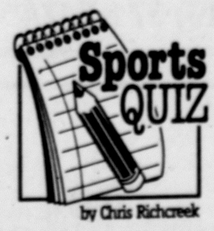

After four of the day's individual matches were completed, the overall score was 2-2. In girls singles, R.C.'s Keonakone Lattasima won 62-64 in the #1 spot but Marina Vyalkov fell 1-6, 2-6 at #2. The top doubles matches were also split as the Raiders' Erin Cheechov and Sokpin Phoung won the #1 girls doubles contest 10-7 but teammates Sou Ching Saetern and Tuan Nguyen dropped the #1 boys doubles match 8-10. Thus, with five matches to go, River City needed three wins to secure the league championship. The Raiders would take all five.

In boys singles, R.C.'s Sokhear Touch (#1) and Marith Khem (#2) pulled out marathon third-set wins to give the visitors a 4-2 lead. The clinching match came in mixed doubles where rookies Silas Zdybel and Nikki Hansen played superbly in a 10-3 Raider victory. R.C. wrapped up the 7-2 overall win when William Clayton and Sou Saejao registered a 10-7 triumph at #2 doubles and Ka Yang and Michelle Jones rallied after a 1-4 start for their own 10-7 win at #2 girls doubles.

The 2001 GEL West Championship is the 6th consecutive league title for River City and the 8th tennis league championship overall in the school's 23-year history, more than in any other varsity sport.

The Raiders finished off the regular season with a 9-0 blanking of the Lindhurst Blazers on Thursday. Touch and Khem again won their singles matches, as did Vyalkov and Phoung. Phoung's victory capped off a perfect regular season record of 17-0. Cheechov, again playing doubles with Jones, also won her match and heads into the post-season with an unblemished mark of 19-0.

The Raiders finish the 2001 campaign with a 13 and 1 record in the GEL and 22 and 2 overall. They have two weeks until the Sac-Joaquin Section Division III team playoffs begin when they will host a quarterfinal match at River City on Tuesday, May 22. The focus now shifts to individual event tournaments with the GEL West tournament at Lindhurst this Thursday (singles) and Friday (doubles) and the Section tournament next Wednesday, May 16, in Stockton.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON PROPOSED ESTABLISHMENT OF CITY OF WEST SACRAMENTO COMMUNITY FACILITIES DISTRICT "B"

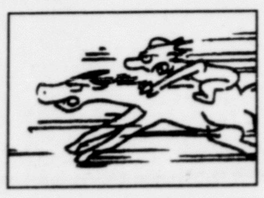

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the West Sacramento City Council on April 18, 2001, adopted its Resolution 01-45, in which it declared its intention to establish a community facilities district, to establish an appropriations limit for such district, and to levy a special tax to pay for certain services, all pursuant to the provisions of the Mello-Roos Community Facilities Act of 1982, Chapter 2.5, Part 1, Division 2, Title 5 of the California Government Code and Chapter 3.32 of the City Municipal Code. The resolution describes the boundaries of the proposed district, the services proposed to be financed, and the rate, method of apportionment, and manner of collection of the proposed special tax. The City proposes to tax all interests in property that may be taxed under the Act. For further details, the resolution is available at the office of the City Clerk, 1350 Halyard Drive, West Sacramento, California.

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that the City Council has fixed Wednesday, May 23, 2001, at the hour of 7:00 p.m., or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, at the City Council Chambers, 1350 Halyard Drive, West Sacramento, California, as the time and place when and where the City Council will hold a public hearing to consider the establishment of the district. At the hearing, the testimony of all interested persons or taxpayers for or against the establishment of the district, the extent of the district, or the furnishing of the specified services will be heard.

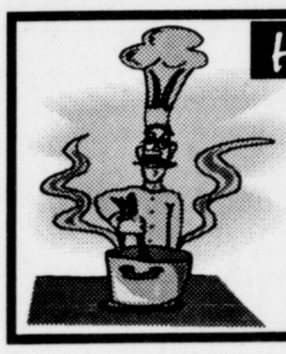

If the owners of one-half or more of the area of the land within the District that is not exempt from the special tax file written protests against the establishment of the district, and the protests are not withdrawn so as to reduce the value of the protests to less than a majority, the creation of the district and the tax levy shall not be considered for a period of one year from the date of the decision of the City Council after the hearing. If the majority of the landowners protest only against a specific type of service or a specified tax, then that type of service or tax shall be precluded.

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that if, at the conclusion of the public hearing, the City Council determines to establish the district, the City Council will order an election to be held by the qualified electors of the district by mailed ballot, with each such elector having one vote for each acre or portion of an acre owned by the elector, on the questions of levying the special tax and establishing an appropriations limit.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial:

City, school district joined at the financial hip

West Sacramento's city and school district officials are looking for ways to cooperate.

They stumbled on one very important way recently when Washington Unified School District set about to sell bonds to modernize its local campuses. The district learned that private property in West Sacramento already has "moderately high" levels of debt load, partly due to city financing districts already in place to help pay for "infrastructure" needs.

The amount of bond debt property owners can be counted on to pay back is limited. Too much debt endangers their ability to pay it all back – and certainly reduces their willingness to approve new bonds on their property. Too much debt also reduces the value of the property – a buyer won't pay as much for land that carries high property taxes along with it.

So anyone hoping to build a new high school in West Sacramento, and to use school bonds to do it, has to be aware of city finance districts that already exist or are planned for creation. Likewise, city officials who hope to use bond districts as a measure to pay for new roads, sewers, landscaping or lighting have to be aware of school bond debt already on local property.

When it comes to using bond debt, both the city and the school district are tied together because they rely on the same property tax base to pay it back. That's why there's a need to cooperate, and that's why officials from both wings of local government have recognized this need recently.

School and city officials will have to cooperate and share their plans for creating new local bond debt. Among other things, a new high school may be at stake.

On a related note, News-Ledger readers may recall that the city is looking into the concept of eliminating some local financing districts and replacing them with a slightly higher sales tax rate. If this option is pursued (and it is still early in the process), this tax shift would relieve some of the burden from property owners and transfer it to a somewhat different tax base: the tax base made up of anyone purchasing taxable West Sacramento goods and services.

By reducing the debt load on local property, this shift could be indirectly helpful to future school bond efforts. Other costs and benefits of the proposal, however, have yet to be thoroughly aired out.

Letters to the Editor

Health Fair success

West Sacramento Housing Development Corporation held its first Health Fair on April 28 at Washington Courtyard, and had a successful turnout.

With the goal to help educate the diverse communities within West Sacramento about the importance of timely immunizations, and to remove the barriers preventing our neighbors from accessing health care and immunization services, we found many altruistic organizations who gave up their Saturday in order to help our community.

West Sacramento Toddler Immunization Outreach Project spearheaded the project. Riverbend Medical Association immunized 21 kids, CommuniCare provided dental screening and the Washington Unified School District nurses provided vision and hearing tests. The Molina Clinic provided "user-friendly" information on the clinic's services.

A big thanks to the West Sacramento Police Department and their VIPs for providing fingerprinting and photo IDs for the children. Parks and Community Services provided a hot dog BBQ for the families who participated.

Thirty-five families participated in the health fair and received free immunization, hearing and vision tests, dental checkups, fingerprints and photo IDs for children, blood pressure checks and child care information.

Last but certainly not least, we would like to thank the many local merchants and business owners that provided the prizes that were offered to the families that partook in the Health Fair.

As usual, we enjoyed the good company of our health care providers and the families that made this event a warm and welcomed one.

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check each of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Tying the knot

Jennifer Palamidessi and Steven Hawkinson plan to wed on this Saturday, May 12.

Jennifer is the daughter of Peter Jr. and Joyce Palamidessi of West Sacramento. She is a 1997 graduate of St. Francis High School and manager of Club Pheasant restaurant in West Sacramento.

Steven, a 1997 River City High School graduate, is an officer of the California Highway Patrol. His parents are Jim and Theda Hawkinson of West Sacramento.

Tragically, over five million dogs are abandoned every year because of behavioral problems.*

The real tragedy is, most of them could have been helped.

Behavioral problems, such as biting, growling, howling, destroying things, and urinating or defecating when left alone, are the number-one reason that dogs are abandoned, left in shelters or euthanatized. But now, veterinarians have effective and innovative new ways of treating behavioral problems. So, if you're concerned about your dog's behavior, schedule an appointment with your family veterinarian today.

It is expected that students will attend with an adult. In-coming 7th graders are invited to attend and at this time will have the opportunity to complete their Internet contracts. Without a contract students are not allowed to access the Internet at Golden State.

Each family attending Family Technology Night will have a chance to win door prizes provided by various community businesses, including Raley's, Wild West Feed, and the Sacramento River Cats. The grand prize, which will go to one of Golden State's current students, is a Del Laptop computer. The first 100 people who arrive will also receive a '2001 Family Technology Night' T-shirt.

VENDITTI: 'critical but stable' condition

By Daryl Fisher
Features Editor

Tony Venditti, a 1998 River City High School graduate who received severe head and spine injuries in an automobile accident last month, is still listed as being in critical but stable condition in the neurological intensive care unit of the U.C. Davis Medical Center.

"Tony is now off all the strong, immobilizing drugs he's been on," explained his uncle, Wayne Conwell, "and that is an important step in helping the doctors better understand and evaluate his condition. He's also beginning to initiate more of his own breathing, he's opening his eyes a little wider, and he's doing some blinking, which are all hopeful signs. The doctors have also given him a feeding tube to help with his nutritional needs and a tracheotomy to make him more comfortable. There's a step-by-step approach in dealing with the kinds of injuries Tony has suffered, and although it's very difficult at times to accept, we all have to be patient and wait for Tony and God to determine how things are going to work out. I will admit that the emotional stress that comes with trying to be patient can be very tiring to his family and friends, but we have been truly uplifted by all the love and concern Tony continues to receive from so many people. And on behalf of Tony's family, I would especially like to thank everyone who is praying for Tony. Please keep it up."

Tony's web page (www.tonyv98.com) will soon have updates on his condition two or three times a week. Messages can also be sent to his family by e-mail at TonyV98@onebox.com.

ATTENTION RESTAURANT OWNERS:

the series in six games. The Milwaukee Bucks and the Charlotte Hornets will battle to seven game but the Bucks will win this series with good coaching in seven games.

The San Francisco Giants (15-15) are home this week against the Montreal Expos and the New York Mets this weekend while the Oakland A's (11-20) hit the road to Toronto and Boston. The River Cats will be home this week to host the Fresno Giants in a four game series starting on Tuesday, May 8th and finish up the weekend against the Las Vegas Stars.

In the boxing world, West Sacramento's Juan Lazcano (27-2-1) retained his N.A.B.F. title with a convincing victory over John-John Molina (52-7). Lazcano was on the undercard of the Fernando Vargas Cinco de Mayo HBO card on Saturday in El Paso, Texas. Vargas survived a second-round knockdown by veteran Wilfredo Rivera (32-5-1) to stop the Puerto Rican fighter in the sixth round of their non-title bout. In other boxing news, Willie Jorrin's title bout against the No. 1 contender, Michael Brodie, is off. Brodie (broken arm) suffered an injury and won't be available for at least 3 months. Jorrin was offered a substitute opponent against the No. 4 contender Israel Vazquez, for the the same money ($135,000) but his management crew decided pass on the unbeaten junior-welterweight from Mexico City. How can you pass on $135,000!!!!

CITY OF WEST SACRAMENTO
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON THE ESTABLISHMENT OF COMMUNITY FACILITIES DISTRICT NO. 14 (NEWPORT ESTATES) AND THE NECESSITY TO INCUR A BONDED INDEBTEDNESS THEREIN

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council (the "Council") of the City of West Sacramento, California (the "City") did, on April 18, 2001, adopt its Resolution No. 01-46 wherein the City declared its intention to establish its Community Facilities District No. 14 (Newport Estates) (the "District") in order to finance, in whole or in part, certain public facilities (the "Facilities") and the incidental expenses related thereto and, subject to the vote of the qualified electors therein, authorizing a special tax, under and pursuant to the terms and provisions of the "Mello-Roos Community Facilities Act of 1982" (the "Act").

A description of the rate, method of apportionment and manner of collection of the special tax is attached as Exhibit A to Resolution No. 01-46. A description of the Facilities to be financed in whole or in part is attached as Exhibit B to Resolution No. 01-46. A complete copy of Resolution No. 01-46 and the boundary map of the proposed District are on file with the City Clerk of the City of West Sacramento, 1350 Halyard Drive, West Sacramento, California 95691, and are available for review there during business hours by any interested persons.

NOTICE IS ALSO GIVEN that the Council did, on April 18, 2001, also adopt its Resolution No. 01-47 wherein the City declared its intention to incur, subject to the vote of the qualified electors in the District, a bonded indebtedness in an amount not to exceed $12,000,000 in order to finance the cost of the Facilities to be financed by the District, and the incidental expenses thereof, under and pursuant to the terms and provisions of the Act.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the Council has set a hearing on the establishment of the District, the proposed rate, method of apportionment and manner of collection of the special tax, and the Council's intention to incur such bonded indebtedness. The time and place for the hearing is Wednesday, May 23, 2001, at 7:00 p.m., or as soon thereafter as practicable, at City Council Chambers, 1350 Halyard Drive, West Sacramento, California.

At the hearing the testimony of all interested persons, including taxpayers, property owners, and registered voters residing within the boundaries of the proposed District, for or against the establishment of the District, the extent of the District, the rate, method of apportionment and manner of collection of the special tax, or the furnishing of the Facilities will be heard. Protests may be made orally or in writing. Any protests pertaining to the regularity or sufficiency of the proceedings shall be in writing and shall clearly set forth the irregularities and defects to which the objection is made. All written protests shall be filed with the City Clerk on or before the time set for hearing. The Council may waive any irregularities in the form or content of any written protests and at the hearing may correct minor defects in the proceedings. Written protests may be withdrawn in writing at any time before the conclusion of the hearing.

If fifty percent (50%) or more of the registered voters, or six (6) registered voters, whichever is more, residing in the territory proposed to be included in the District, or the owners of one-half (1/2) or more of the area of land in the territory proposed to be included in the District and not exempt from the special tax, file written protests against the establishment of the District, and the protests are not withdrawn so as to reduce the value of the protests to less than a majority, no further proceedings to create the District, or to levy the specified special tax, will be taken for a period of one year from the date of the decision of the Council.

If the majority protests of the registered voters or the landowners are only against the furnishing of a specified type or types of Facilities within the District, or against levying a specified special tax, those types of Facilities or the specified special tax will be eliminated from the District proceedings.

At the hearing any person interested, including all persons owning property within the proposed District, will also be heard upon the proposed bonded indebtedness or any other matters set forth in Resolution No. 01-47, and they may present any matters relating to the necessity for incurring the bonded indebtedness to finance the costs of the Facilities to be financed by the District, and the incidental expenses thereof.

At the conclusion of the hearing, if the Council determines to establish the District and levy the special tax within the District, it must adopt a resolution of formation, in which case it will submit the levy of the special tax to the qualified electors of the District in a special election. If at least 12 persons, who need not necessarily be the same 12 persons, have been registered to vote within the proposed District for each of the 90 days preceding the close of the public hearing, the vote will be by registered voters of the District, with each voter having one vote. Otherwise, the vote will be by mailed ballot by the landowners of the proposed District, with each landowner who is the owner of record at the close of the public hearing having one vote for each acre or portion of an acre of land owned within the District.
